Re Item V

Reasoned statement with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability;
citations and explanations supporting such statement

1 The following documents are referred to in this communication:

D1 : US 6 302 417 B1 (HEYRING CHRISTOPHER B) 16 October 2001 (2001-10-16)

D2 : US 2001/022432 A1 (HEBERT MARC) 20 September 2001 (2001-09-20)

D3 : US 3 589 700 A (CARDUNER JEAN JACQUES ET AL) 29 June 1971 (1971-06-29)

2 INDEPENDENT CLAIM 1

The present application meets the criteria of Article 33(1) PCT, because the subject-matter of claim 1 is inventive in the sense of Article 33(3) PCT.

2.1 Document D1, which is considered to represent the most relevant state of the art to the subject matter of claim 1, discloses (see figure 10) with its split stabiliser consisting of rod shaped torsion element 5a, 5b all the features of claim 1 with the exception of the two third arms being connected by a balancer bar supporting a single spring/suspension element 100 connecting it to the chassis.

The problem to be solved by the features that claim 1 has over this prior art, the two spring elements each connected to its respective third arm, could be seen as preventing the buckling of spring 100 because of the inclination angles of the balancer bar.

Replacing the balancer bar and single spring by two springs each connected to their respective third arm is seen a slight non-obvious change in the device of claim D1 to solve this problem, the skilled man would rather change the way the single spring is mounted between the the balancing bar and the chassis.

- 2.2 Document D2 discloses (see figure 7) with its torsion bar 40, first arms 32 and third arms 42 all the features of claim 1 with the exception of the second arms and a (separate) wheel axle housing.

These features have already been employed in a wheel suspension, see document D3, figure 7 (or also D1, figure 10) to couple a torsion element to a separate wheel axle housing.

Combining D2 on the one hand with the quite different suspensions from D3 or D1 seems to be too far retched for the skilled man.

- 2.3 Therefore claim 1 meets the requirements of the PCT in respect of inventive step (Article 33(2) and (3) PCT).

3 DEPENDENT CLAIMS 2-7

Dependent claims 2-7 being dependent from claim 1 also meet the requirements of the PCT in respect of inventive step (Article 33(2) and (3) PCT).

Re Item VII

Certain defects in the international application

Contrary to the requirements of Rule 5.1(a)(ii) PCT, the relevant background art disclosed in the documents D1 and D2 is not mentioned in the description, nor are these documents identified therein.

Although claim 1 is drafted in the two-part form the features (see under 2.1 above) are incorrectly placed in the characterising portion, as they are disclosed in document D1 in combination with the features placed in the preamble (Rule 6.3(b) PCT).
